Client Lifecycle Management (CLM) Introduction
4hrs Self-study

CLM is a browser-based application for client lifecycle management. It enables users to manage the entire lifecycle of a client including prospecting, onboarding, modifications to client data or products and closing the client's account. The application is highly customizable through case modelling and ACP customization. CLM uses the concept of case management to model the processing and flow of data. An extended version of Flowable, a third-party graphical modelling tool, is used to model the bank's business logic through cases. In SaaS and BPaaS projects customization specialists use a standard, non-customizable case model, with a customizable configuration file. On-prem projects have their own copy of the case model which they can modify according to their needs.
